

Errata

The article titled “Tracking Chinese Strategic Mobile Missiles” by Li Bin which published in the Science & Global Security Volume 15, Issue 1, published with an error. The sentence found on the 4th line in the last paragraph of page 10 is incorrect.

According to this article, the surviving missile TELs began their patrol after absorbing nuclear attacks; the missiles carried nuclear warheads and the warheads were put on the missiles on the fifth day in bad weather after the patrol began; the missile was simulated to be launched on the eighth day.

It should be amended to read:

According to this article, the surviving missile TELs began their patrol after absorbing nuclear attacks; the missiles did not carry nuclear warheads and the warheads were put on the missiles on the fifth day in bad weather after the patrol began; the missile was simulated to be launched on the eighth day.

Taylor & Francis Group, LLC regrets any inconvenience or confusion that this error may have caused. The online version of the article has been corrected.